Merrill, Editors:

In The Sun of May 21, Maryland Herald, there is an inquiry by H. R. as to the line of Thomas and Rachel Matthews. A certain Thomas Matthews, of Leesburg, Loudoun county, Va., was married April 5, 1784, to Sarah Johnson, of Philadelphia, daughter of William Johnson, deceased. The marriage was at the old Bank Meeting House, in Philadelphia, by Friends' ceremony. The old parchment certificate is signed by 72 witnesses. Among others are Hannah Matthews, Betsy Payne (afterwards wife of President Madison) and Mary Payne (daughter of Betsy, Mary Dickinson (wife of John). The above Thomas Matthews is styled "son of Daniel Matthews, deceased, and Ann, his wife." S. T. Philadelphia.

Merrill, Editors:

Replying to "H. R.," Maryland Herald, May 21, 1905: Thomas Matthews and Rachel Price-Matthews, of Gunpowder Monthly Meeting, were married October 25, 1751, and had issue: (1) Sarah, born October 12, 1752, who married September 27, 1777, Thomas Owen, of York, Pa.; (2) Mordecai, born September 12, 1755, who married in 1789 Ruth Hussey; (3) Daniel, born February 3, 1758, who married February 29, 1788, Susanna Bartlett; (4) John, born February 20, 1760, who married, first, November 27, 1790, Leah Price, second, in 1795, Martha Ansell, third, in 1800, Alice Kinsey; (5) Jesse, born October 17, 1762, who married January 27, 1794, Milcah Reitz; (6) Rachel, born April 10, 1765, who married February 24, 1798, Isaac Kinsey; (7) Eli, born February 21, 1767, who married April 20, 1800, Mary Cooper; (8) Elizabeth, born April 3, 1789, who married February 23, 1793, Thomas Scott; (9) Thomas, born September 7, 1771, who married in 1795 Ann Gull; (10) William, born January 26, 1774, who married January 25, 1797, Rebecca Price.

Justice Stanley Matthews was descended through Daniel Matthews, an own brother of this Thomas Matthews. Taken from Matthews collection and reminiscences of the family. DUFFLE.

Merrill, Editors:

I am pleased to be able to answer part of "H. R.'s" inquiry of May 21, 1905. Mordecai Matthews, born September 12, 1755, married Ruth Hussey December 13, 1788. Ruth Hussey was born April 12, 1765, died July 23, 1853, aged 74 years 5 months and 21 days. Their children were Rhoda, Edith, Eliza Maria, Mordecai Hussey, Amos, Rachel P. and Edward G. Matthews. Rhoda married (1) Bartlett, (2) Hunt, Edith married Thomas Dawson, Eliza married John Needles, Maria married ——— Kirk, Mordecai Hussey married Phoebe E. Lamb, Amos married Ellen Marsh, Rachel P. married Abram Scott and Edward G. Matthews married Sarah Giver.

Ruth Hussey was the daughter of Richard Hussey and his wife, Minam (Harry) Hussey, of Warrington, York county, Pa.

Capt. Christopher Hussey, the progenitor of the Hussey family in America, came to Massachusetts on the William and Francis in 1629 and was one of the purchasers of Nantuxet Island from Thomas Maylew July 2, 1630. Captain Hussey's son John settled at New Castle, Del., in 1684, and was a member of the Assembly in 1690 under the Penn government.

HIS LONG LIFE ENDED.

DEATH OF JUSTICE MATTHEWS, OF THE U. S. SUPREME COURT.

His Long Illness Terminated Fatally Yesterday Morning—The Senate and Supreme Court Adjourned Out of Respect—Arrangements for the Funeral.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Associate Justice Stanley Matthews, of the United States Supreme Court, died at 10 o'clock this morning.

The last change in the condition of Justice Matthews occurred yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the morning he had been feeling quite comfortable, and Stanley Matthews, of 5900 K Street, N.W., in which he resided until his death, was 67 years of age. He was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on July 2, 1815. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church of the Government here, and its pastor, Rev. Dr. Hamilton, will officiate at the funeral ceremonies at the house, after which the remains will be taken to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for interment. Justice Matthews was twice married, and his children were by his first wife, two sons and one daughter. His second wife, Mrs. Theodor, widow of the late Judge Theodor, he was in comfortable circumstances, leaving a considerable property well invested.

Justice Matthews was born in Cincinnati, July 2, 1815, and was therefore nearly 68 years of age. He was originally a farmer and freemason, and although a member of the convention in 1852 when first nominated for the office of Justice, he withdrew before the nomination and supported General Grant. He was a warm supporter as well as a personal friend of General Hayes, and before the electoral commission replaced elected service to his friend. Upon the resignation of Senator Sumner to the same position, Mr. Matthews was elected as his successor, serving from 1877 until 1882. Toward the close of his administration President Hayes sent the nomination of Stanley Matthews to the Senate to be an associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, but the nomination was not acted upon by that Congress. It was reviewed by President Garfield on May 12, 1881, and continued.

A man of great intellectual force, Justice Matthews ranked high in the law both as a practitioner at the bar and as a judge on the bench. It is thought that one of his last acts will be to make the special session of the Senate. The special session about his successor, in addition to appointing the name of Judge Graham, comprehends the program of Senator Sumner to the same position. Noble to the head of the Department of Justice, and Assistant Postmaster General, Secretary to the Interior Department. Justice Graham is now judge of the Circuit Court comprising the States of Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana. It is reported he would be succeeded by Judge W. A. Woods, leaving a vacancy to be filled in the Circuit of Indiana.

Washington July 3, 1885

My dear Mr. Chapin:

I beg to return my grateful acknowledgments for your kind words of sympathy. The feeling you express for Mrs. Matthews was fully reciprocated by her. She was very much pained during her long illness to receive from you what about ten years

The room was furnished with a bedstead, dresser, washstand, bureau, chest of drawers, wardrobe, trunk, chair, stool, and a small table. The walls were covered with paper, and there was a mirror over the door.

These annotations are such mere textual confusions as compared with misunderstandings of the very sense and import of the provisions of Magna Carta. Take, for instance, this very guaranty of justice per legale iudicium parium suorum vel per bonum hominem. Coke and his contemporaries, treating Magna Carta as the theologians of his day treated the text of the Bible, and seeking to deduce from its inspired provisions a guaranty of every privilege which Englishmen of the seventeenth century valued, explained iudicium parium as trial by jury. One finds this explanation given in 1616 by Coke himself in Bazze's case, 1 Rolle 225 (more explicit on this point than 11 Coke 99a); in the debates in Parliament over the Bill of Rights, 3 Howell's St. Tr. 152; by Blackstone, 4 Com. 349; and after him by judges and text-writers in an almost unanimous chorus. Even Mr. Justice Harlan, speaking for the Supreme Court of the United States, could say so late as 1897: "When Magna Carta declared that no freeman should be deprived of life, etc., 'but by the judgment of his peers or by the law of the land,' it referred to a trial by twelve jurors." Thompson v. Utah, 170 U. S. 349. This statement, like the name "Holy Roman Empire" according to Voltaire, is correct, except in three points: it did not refer to a trial in the modern sense at all; it did not refer to a trial by jurors; and it did not refer to twelve jurors. It could not refer to these things, for the very simple reason that trial by jury in criminal cases did not exist in 1215—a sufficient reason, unless, indeed, the authors of Magna Carta were very inspired, and to judge from the meaningless eulogy heaped upon them this is indeed conceivable. A civil jury, or the prototype of that institution, did exist, and the privilege of using it might be had of the King for ready money, but it was viewed by the barons with suspicion and alarm as trenching on their feudal courts, wherein one of the recognized tests or "leges"—ordeal, duel, compurgation—might be had in the time-honored way by iudicium parium.

It is refreshing in the midst of so much traditional misinformation, to find that so long ago as 1884, Mr. Justice Matthews in Hurtado v. California, 110 U. S. 516, expressed a truer conception of iudicium parium in Magna Carta and brought it into relation with the present meaning of "judgment of one's peers" in a correct manner. "The words of Magna Carta," said he, "stood for very different things at the time of the separation of the American colonies from what they represented originally. For at first the words nisi per legale iudicium parium had no reference to a jury; they applied only to the pares regni, who were the constitutional judges in the court of exchequer and coram rege." On a later page he adds: "It is more consonant to the true philosophy of our historical legal institutions to say that the spirit of personal liberty and individual right, which they embodied, was preserved and developed by a progressive growth and wise adaptation to new circumstances and situations of the forms and processes found fit to give, from time to time, new expression and greater effect to modern ideas of self-government."
